APPLYING FOR A SKILLED MIGRATION VISA (Subclass 189/190/489)

The Process:

- ⇒ Choose an occupation - Medium and Long-term Strategic Skills List (MLTSSL) – for Skilled Independent (Subclass 189) visa (Point-tested Stream) and Skilled (Regional) Provisional (Subclass 489) Visa (Family Sponsored) / MLTSSL and Short Term Skilled Occupation List (STSOL) – for Skilled Nominated (Subclass 190) and Subclass 489 visa (State or Territory nominated)
- ⇒ Skill Assessment - apply for a skill assessment from the relevant assessing authority
- ⇒ Self-assess point test - have at least 60 points
- ⇒ Lodge an Expression of Interest (EOI) - through SkillSelect
- ⇒ Wait - until the Minister invites you to apply for the relevant visa
- ⇒ Apply for the Visa - within 60 days from the Invitation

Threshold eligibility criteria to lodge an EOI:

- less than 45 years old
- nominate an occupation from the relevant occupation list
- have a positive and valid skill assessment from the relevant assessing authority
- meet the English Language Requirement
- complete point test self-assessment
- Seek Nomination by State or Territory (for Subclass 190 and Subclass 489 (State/Territory Nominated) only)
- has family sponsorship (for Subclass 489 - Regional Sponsored only)
- Willingness to reside in regional Australia/designated area (for Subclass 489 only)

Expression of Interest

Submit an online Expression of Interest (EOI) through SkillSelect.

To submit an EOI you need to complete a Skills Assessment and English test. You do not need full 60 points to lodge EOI; you can update your EOI with additional points as you complete requirements. Once you have reached 60 points*, your EOI will be examined by the Department of Home Affairs and each claim you made will be considered. Subclass 189 EOIs are ranked according to date that 60 points were achieved and number of points (>60). Subclass 190 and 489 EOIs are not subject to ranking. There is no cost to submit an EOI .

some occupations may require more than 60 points to receive an invitation .*

Note:

EOI is not an application for a visa and lodging an EOI does not entitle you to a bridging visa. You will have to leave Australia at the end of your current visa if you do not hold another valid visa that allows you to remain in Australia.

Subclass 189, 190 and 489

One overall Expression of Interest can be submitted for the following 3 visa types:

Subclass 189 – Skilled Independent visa.

Subclass 190 – Skilled Nominated visa – nominated by a state government.

Subclass 489 – Skilled Regional Sponsored (Provisional) visa – nominated by state government OR sponsored by an eligible relative in Australia.

- ⇒ Subclass 489 is a 4 year temporary visa. After meeting prerequisites, including two years living and at least 1 of those working in a 'regional' or 'designated' area of Australia, permanent residency may be applied for via a Skilled Regional (subclass 887) Visa.
